

Eric Siedentopf, CPA

Director, Sales & Excise Tax

Costco Wholesale

With over twenty years of state and local tax experience, Eric Siedentopf, CPA leads a team of professionals responsible for the timely and accurate filing of several thousand sales and excise tax returns annually; as well as audit, research and solution development for a variety of retail, service and manufacturing operations throughout the U.S..

Focusing on transactional taxes, he has managed all aspects of functions in this field including audit planning, issue analysis, resolution strategy, administrative appeals, and tax return review. His work has helped build effective operational and reporting tax procedures and resources for one of the nation's largest retailers – Costco Wholesale Corp.

Eric has been a speaker at national and regional tax and accounting conferences and is a graduate of Gonzaga University.