

Ian Babcock
Sales Content Producer
ExtraHop

Ian Babcock is a multi-faceted producer specializing in video production and creating scalable processes for content production and delivery. He has previously worked with news organizations, online retailers, and online advertising platform providers. Ian currently works as the sales content producer for ExtraHop Networks, harnessing the power of wire data to help IT Operations teams gain real-time insights that solve IT issues and help businesses grow.